GERMANS MAKE AN AERIAL RAID

Seaplanes Drop Bombs on East Coast of England—Driven Off By High Angle Guns

(Special to The Herald)

London, May 20.—Three German seaplanes raided the east coast of Kent early today. Of the three casualties, one was a soldier who was killed. One of the raiders was shot down off the Belgian coast while returning to the German base. Announcement of the raid was made by the war office this afternoon. A number of bombs were dropped by the raiders.

In addition to the soldiers killed, a woman and a seaman were injured. As soon as the raiders appeared, fire was opened against them by the high angle guns, and British aeroplanes went aloft to give battle. When the German machines took flight they were pursued across the North Sea by the British airmen.

SHAKE UP IN THE POLICE DEPARTMENT

Two Patrolmen Suspended and One Resigns From the Force.

The talk of a shake-up in the police department of which more or less has been heard of late, came to the surface on Friday night at a special meeting of the board of commissioners.

Three night policemen were ordered before the board for a hearing and action was taken in each case. The charge against them is said to have been loitering in certain places on their beats. One patrolman resigned, another was dropped for fifteen days, while the third was suspended for a period of five days with loss of pay.

PRESIDENT GIVEN HEARTY GREETING

Fires Opening Gun in Campaign For Re-Election in Speech Before People of North Carolina

Special to The Herald.

On Board the President's Special Train, Salisbury, N. C., May 20.—President Wilson received an enthusiastic greeting from several hundred North Carolinians today when he appeared on the rear platform at Spencer as he was proceeding to Charlotte to deliver an address at the annual celebration of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence.

After a short speech to the people at Spencer, an old-fashioned hand-shaking bee followed. This terminated only when the train pulled out. The crowd wanted to see Mrs. Wilson but the President explained that she had not yet arisen. Thongs were at other stations also. Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Senator Overman, who were accompanying the President, were greeted by many friends at all stops.

Charlotte, N. C., May 20.—"The men who now control the Republican party have their heads over their shoulders. They are looking backward not forward," President Wilson in these words fired the first gun in his campaign for re-election today. They were addressed to a throng that gathered around his car when the special train which brought the President, Mrs. Wilson and a distinguished party to the Mecklenburg celebration in Charlotte, stopped for a few minutes at Salisbury. The President addressed a few words of thanks to the crowd and then launched into his first campaign efforts. It was obvious in his speech that the President referred to George Hubbell of New Hampshire whose nomination for member of the Federal Trade Commission was not confirmed by the senate owing to the opposition of Senator Gallinger. The Presidential party was met at Charlotte by an enthusiastic throng.

President Wilson in his speech this afternoon at the celebration of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence declared that the United States would have its part in the peace negotiations when the conflict in Europe comes to an end.

The President first spoke of the strength of the United States, adding "that it is a good deal more important to know what we are going to do with our power than that we preserve it." Passing to the European conflict he said, "What are the elements in this struggle? It is a complication of traditions and political intricacies and national policies. It has been a grapple of war rather than of peace." The President then passed on to the part the United States is playing as a world power, calling this country a "neutral pot." "As the emigrant comes," the President pointed out, "he is made a member of the American family and he accepts the democratic ideals of this country which are far removed from the political conditions in Europe." Tribute to the sturdy quality of the Middle Westerners was paid by the President.

SHIPPING BILL PASSED

House Voted in Favor, 211 to 161, Along Party Lines.

Special to The Herald.

Washington, May 20.—The administration shipping bill passed the House today by a vote of 211 to 161. The vote was almost entirely along party lines. In spite of the filibuster of the Republicans led by Representative Mann of Illinois, the bill was unchanged in important particulars. It will go to the Senate immediately. Practically the same measure passed the House at the last session but was defeated in the Senate on a close vote.

WIDDER SHOE COMPANY TAKES GAME FROM K. OF C.

Wins by Five to Three Score in Sunset League, Taking Place at Head of the League

In the Sunset League game last evening, the Widder Shoe Company defeated the Knights of Columbus, winning 5 to 3 in a game devoid of anything sensational. The K. of C. team tried out Jack Dowd in the box but owing to nervousness he barked control and was replaced at the beginning of the second inning by Paul Bailey, first baseman. Only one long hit was made in the game, Jack Bailey driving out a clean two-bagger to center in the third inning, scoring two runs. Neither team played the brand of ball they have exhibited in their other games, the cold weather having its bad effect on the men.

Neither of the three pitchers were hit hard as there were but seven hits, with a total of eight bases, made in the game; these hits with errors, for one and passed balls resulting in the eight runs scored.

The Game

1st Inning.—Mulholland walked and was sacrificed second, stealing third; when Letch went out on a pretty bunt, Dowd to P. Bailey. Skeet singled to left; on a line drive, scoring Mulholland. Cragen singled to center, advancing Skeet to second. Mulroy was safe at first when Paul Bailey muffed the throw from Dowd. With the bases full, Esterbrook was passed, forcing Skeet with a run. Glesler was out on a foul fly to Holmes. McCallum was out on a foul fly to Holmes. Two hits, one error, two runs.

Wilkinson was thrown out at first. Esterbrook to McCallum. P. Bailey walked. Longhlin fanned. O'Brien out on a line drive, scoring Mulholland. No hits, no errors, no runs.

2nd Inning.—The Knights of Columbus' line was changed; Paul Bailey going to the box. Kelly replacing Longhlin at center; Wilkinson going to first base, Sorotta at second and Dillon to right in place of Sorotta. Longhlin and Dowd went to the bench.

Holliday was out at first, P. Bailey to Wilkinson. Mulholland was out on his grounder. Wilkinson unassisted, Letch reached third on Sorotta's error and was out at second, stealing. J. Bailey to Sorotta. No hits, one error, no runs.

Bayer walked. Sorotta went first, hit by a pitched ball. Holmes out at first, Skeet to McCallum. Bayer scored on a passed ball. Dillon out on a foul fly captured by Skeet. Wilkinson out at first, Holliday to McCallum. No hits, no errors, one run.

3d Inning.—Skeet flied to O'Brien in left. Cragen walked and stole second. Mulroy and Esterbrook each went foul.

BOXING NOTES

Rockingham A. C. Show for Monday Evening Looks Like Fast Stuff.

The Rockingham A. C. is showing some fast and clever men for their show on Monday evening. No other city

In New England of the size of Portsmouth would take a chance on hooking

Nelson, Hertz and Flynn for the same night. These boys come high as they are among the best of their weight in New England. With a liberal patronage the local club can be depended on to give the patrons good action. Some fast boys from the ships will do their part in making the meet a success. Nelson and Hertz for the main bout will prove a big drawing card. Their recent battle in this city was unquestionably the most satisfactory ever seen here.

The decision of the referee however, was open to so much discussion that the fans were a unit in requesting another go between these men and the matchmaker did the right thing in bringing them together again. Hertz will try hard for a decisive win and Nelson is going after the match promised him with Mike O'Dowd or Joe

Fagan in case he is returned the winner. Eddie Flynn who is to box Joe Startz of the U. S. S. Montana needs no introduction to the local followers of the game. His bout with Al Nelson last winter at the local club is still fresh in the memory of those who were present. Flynn possesses the sleep punch and when it connects it usually means the curtain for his opponent.

Monday night he will face Joe Startz of the U. S. S. Montana. Startz has never lost a battle and feels confident of winning against Flynn. Young Towari of the U. S. S. Washington will be one of the boys to open the show. Towari is a star performer and made a great many friends by his clean and willing work at the last show. Their is unusual interest in the coming show and a record crowd is sure to be on hand.

—Armory Has Good Bill for Tuesday

Boston, May 19.—A main bout which fails to produce twelve rounds of an extraordinary brand of competition two sterling eight round attractions instead of the usual single eight round battle and a six round bout of the clasher variety is the program the Armory A. A. has arranged for its patrons next Tuesday night. Johnny

Griffiths of Akron, O., the sensation of the middle west and Willie Beecher of New York are the principals in the twelve round affair.

Taking into consideration the fact that Griffiths has never been seen here but has a record in the west that would do any lightweight proud and also the manner in which Beecher disposed of Johnny Harvey on his last appearance here, a record breaking crowd of fans should be on hand. The capability of both boxers has been heralded throughout the country and all-in-all the same record breaking crowd of fans should be furnished a marvelous treat.

Griffiths is a new subject for the Boston fans to air their opinions upon and the westerner knowing this is sure to do his level best to merit their approval. If the fact that he has made a creditable showing against all the top-notchers in the game including Jack

Burton and other well known artists is not enough to convince folks Boston then the Akron lad is ready to prove his ability. In a Boston ring

Good Judges pick Griffiths to make a successful debut here but the versatile

Beecher has been known on many occasions to upset the calculations of the deepest students in the game. Beecher also has a record of which he has every reason to be proud and he welcomes the coming of the westerner, confident of victory and eager to show

Boston what he can do opposing a good fighter.

He has already dazzled the followers of the game on more than one occasional and it would not be surprising to hear him declared the master at the finish. Interest has already begun to assert itself in the match and taking into consideration the other attractions a big night should please the patrons.

Owing to the high class of Tuesday nights program a slight advance in prices was made necessary, the fee being one, two and three dollars. The

PLAN TO FORCE ITALY TO ASK SEPARATE PEACE

Paris, May 19.—Emperor Franz Josef is hurling all his available forces against the Italian front, planning to invade northern Italy and force King Victor Emmanuel to sue for a separate peace.

This information was contained in dispatches from Geneva today, quoting a neutral diplomat as authority. It followed a dispatch from Rome stating that Italian re-enforcements had been rushed to the Tyrol front and that the Austrians have been brought to a halt.

The Austrian offensive, Geneva reported, was planned at a conference in Vienna between the Austrian general staff and emissaries of the Kaiser. German agents were to start "Socialist" peace demonstrations in Italian cities as the Austrians advanced.

Slight Gain Made by Germans at Verdun

Paris, May 19.—Violent fighting on a large scale was resumed on the Verdun front last night. Two fresh divisions of German troops attacked French positions at Avocourt Wood and Hill 301, west of the Meuse.

The war office announced that the attacks in the morn were unsuccessful, although the Germans obtained a foothold in a small post south of Hill 287.

The Germans attempted to recapture the small fort on the northeast slope of Hill 301 which the French took on the preceding day, but their effort failed.

The infantry attack was preceded by the heaviest artillery preparation. German guns raking the French front for several hours with terrific drum-fire.

The enemy then rushed forward against both the Avocourt wood positions and French works west of Hill 301.

On both wings the German attack was halted abruptly. Only in the center where the French work was occupied did the French line yield.

The French retained the German fort captured yesterday in this region.

In the Argonne, a German attempt to penetrate a small French salient near St. Hubert, was stopped by French fire. Gefecht in the Vosges region, was bombed last night.

Infantry fighting was confined for the most part to the section west of the Meuse. East of the river and in the Woëvre the artillery was active.

The official statement says the troops employed by the Germans in their attacks had recently been sent to the Verdun front.

Austrian Advance Continues

Berlin, May 19.—Wireless to Sayville, N.Y.—Austrian troops are continuing to advance at points on the Italian front, the official statement of May 18 says, although the Italians are undertaking vigorous counterstrokes. The Austrians crossed the Luan valley and captured Costabellone.

"In southern Tyrol, the Austrian attack conquered the frontier ridge of Maglio, between the Astico and Lanz valley," said the official statement. "Austrian troops crossed the Luan valley southeast of Plesso, capturing Castellana. Our troops repulsed several hostile attacks south of Moschera and on Zugnata (south of Rovereto).

"On the coal and Carinthian front, artillery was generally hindered by a fog which covered the ground. Southeast of Monfalcone, the Italians attempted to reconquer a recently lost town.

"Yes, we have been getting some of the breaks, but isn't that part of baseball. Furthermore we haven't had more than our share. To some folks it seems that some of our victories have been lucky. But those who have analyzed our record find that most of the so-called luck we have had has been nothing else but the seizing of opportunity when it offered and then riding through it to victory."

"Those who say everything has broken well for us overlook the fact that Ray Chapman, our shortstop, has been held up with a bad knee. Chapman ranks as one of the best shortstops in the game. This loss naturally has weakened us to some extent, although Wainscots has filled in the gap very well."

"The Italian official reports of May 16 and 17 state that Austrian losses in these engagements were terrible and enormous. These reports are invented in order to diminish the impression made by the Italian retreat."

Claims Italians Deserting

Berlin, May 19, by wireless to Sayville.—The Overseas News Agency says that dispatches are appearing in the Swiss press to the effect that Italian deserters, chiefly Alpini, are arriving almost every day at the Swiss frontier. Some of them are men on furlough; these dispatches say, and others come directly from the Tonale front.

It is reported that one group of six deserters arrived at Osciatello, Switzerland, two days later by 11.

Austrian Mass Transports

Paris, May 19.—One hundred and fifty steamers have been assembled at the Hungarian seaport of Munka to transport troops, munitions and supplies under protection of the Austro-Hungarian fleet to Durazzo, Albania. This information was received here today in advices from Innsbruck.

It is supposed here that the Austrians intend to make a strong attack on the Albanian town of Aviona, which is occupied by the Italians.

British Bombard El Arish

London, May 19.—British warships and aeroplanes have bombarded the town of El Arish, in Egypt, near the border of Palestine, and are believed to have destroyed the fort there. This information was received here today.

Mr. Bryan, replying to Mr. Putnam at last night's session, said:

"I am not surprised that people should be misled. Those who have nothing but the eastern metropolitan press to rely upon are fortunate if they get any truth."

Mr. Bryan asserted that "preparedness such as is generally proposed will not prevent war, but will provoke war."

The use of military compulsion by a group of nations to prevent war, which is the most radical feature of the plan advocated by the League to Enforce Peace was debated. The proposition was favored by Herbert S. Houston and Dr. George Haven Putnam of New York and opposed by Dr. James L. Tryon of Boston, director of the New England department of the American Peace Society and Alpheus H. Snow of Washington, D. C.

"Peace between nations," said Mr. Houston, "just as does peace within nations, must rest on force. Peace must be put on a war footing, and its advocates must quit the forum for the field, if need be, to fight not to urge war, but to establish peace."

"The international tribunal at The Hague," Dr. Putnam said, "had the weakness of presenting no provision for the enforcement of the decisions of the tribunal. We hold that at the outbreak of the war the United States ought to have placed itself at the head of a league of neutral nations, with the avowed purpose of doing what might be practicable to maintain the rights and precedents of neutrals and to prevent these from being undermined through the pressure of the require-

WITH THE SPORTS

(By Frank G. Menke)

New York, May 19.—Lee Felt observes but not heartily, that his Indian crew is on the top of the American League heap because it has been playing championship baseball.

"Team work is the real secret of our success so far," asserts the manager of the Cleveland squad. "The boys are all playing together. Individual starting is an unknown quantity with us now. And best of all, the utmost harmony prevails. When you get such a combination you usually find team that is up near the top."

Our pitchers are going good. Some folks think they will crack later on. It wouldn't surprise me if they pitched even better baseball when warmer weather comes. Two or three of my players are hot day pitchers. Yet they have been able to win games in near zero weather and hold the opposition to a small number of hits and four runs.

CLEAN UP YOUR SILVER GOBLINS DO THE WORK

The SILVER-CLEAN PAN is a patented invention representing a scientific and practical triumph over all the troubles and difficulties now experienced in cleaning silverware and jewelry. It is as easy and rapid a process to clean tarnished silver as it is to wash china. Common baking soda, a little salt, warm water, and the combination of metals used in the construction of the pan produce a galvanic action which gives wonderful results in a few moments.

The SILVER-CLEAN PAN will not hurt the most delicate article—no rubbing away of silver; perfectly sanitary because your tableware is sterilized.

Approved and adopted by some of the largest institutions of the country. We have all sizes—and the price is not high.

PREPAREDNESS MEANS WAR IS STATEMENT OF BRYAN

Mohonk Lake, N. Y.—William J. Bryan reached Mohonk Lake yesterday a few minutes too late to hear an attack upon his peace policies that disturbed the usual orderly proceedings of the annual conference on international arbitration. The attack was delivered by George Haven Putnam of New York, an ardent champion of preparedness, real or assumed, of the combatants.

Dr. Tryon's view was that the United States might wisely cooperate if needs be, with other nations to use force for the preservation of public safety in a specific emergency like the Boxer rebellion as it arises, but be in a position to withdraw when it considered the purpose sufficiently fulfilled, without incurring the obligations of an alliance with all its possible entanglements.

Mr. Snow's conclusion was that the plan of the league to "enforce peace was impracticable and dangerous, chiefly because it proposes to use joint instead of united force and provides no executive to determine and direct the force.

Both Mr. Snow and Dr. Tryon advocated working toward more stable international order through the development of the Hague conference idea.

Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight told the conference that the Atlantic ocean could no longer be considered a serious obstacle to the invasion of the United States. "Unless those waters are blockaded by a fleet strong enough to command them absolutely," he said, "the ocean is a highway, broad, spacious and convenient beyond any military road the Romans ever built."

Prof. William H. Taft in taking his place as presiding officer last night, answered the pacifists who object to the new league because it presupposes the use of force. He replied also to critics of the league who believe it would draw the United States into entangling alliances.

"I do not think we have reached a time," said Mr. Taft, "when force as an old moral impulse can be dispensed with. We need a police force at home, and the same needs exists in the relations between nations."

"As regards the fear of entangling alliances, our situation now is very different from what it was when Washington gave his warning."

He enumerated the developments which had brought the United States into inevitable contact with foreign powers. Speaking of the Philippines, he declared: "I cannot tell you what I think of our present Philippine policy in the presence of the Indians."

Mexico, he characterized as an "international nuisance likely to entail greater burdens upon us."

"I do not know how near the end of the war we are, but there are indications that they are growing tired of the war on the other side. A man cannot see into the other day who had a conference with Sir Edward Grey and Minister Balfour, and discussed with them the proposals of the league. They both told him that if such a plan were made they did not see how it could be upon other than the lines proposed for this organization. And they looked to the United States for the formation of such a body."

SPECIAL TRAIN CHARTERED FOR NEW HAMPSHIRE PARTY

Concord, May 19.—New Hampshire will have quite a contingent at the coming Republican national convention at Chicago, which meets on June 7. Not only will there be the eight delegates and the eight alternates chosen at the presidential primaries, who go there in an official capacity, but the party is to be further augmented by Republicans well known in all sections of the state. Already two special cars have been provided for the party, which leaves the North Station, Boston, Sunday, June 4, and which will go out by special train, leaving at 1 p. m.

It is expected that the Massachusetts delegates and delegates from other New England states may also leave at this time. The New Hampshire party will be located at the LaSalle, where quarters have already been engaged by National Committeeman F. W. Estabrook. This is the same hotel that was used by the New Hampshire delegates four years ago.

Personnel of the Party

The personnel of the New Hampshire delegation is as follows: Walter M. Parker, Manchester; George H. Moses, Concord; William D. Swart, Nashua; Dwight Hall, Dover; Perry H. Dow, Manchester; Merrill Shurtliff, Lancaster; George A. Carpenter, Wolfboro; Philip H. Faulkner, Keene; Reginald G. Stevenson, Exeter; Frank W. Maynard, Nashua; William J. Carter, Portsmouth; William E. Kliney, Claremont; John C. M. Gleason, Bethlehem; Edwin H. Thomas, Farmington; Bob S. Dearborn, Laconia; and Alfred Stanley Plymouth who go to make up the delegates and alternates. Besides this there will be at the national convention in an official capacity, National Committeeman F. W. Estabrook, who will go about a week or ten days ahead of the rest of the New Hampshire delegation, as he has much to do with the preliminary work of the convention, as it is under the supervision and direction of the members of the national committee that the great machinery of the convention in all its myriad of details is worked out. Two other Granite state residents will also have a part in the convention, as William H. Toppling of Manchester is one of the secretaries, while Deputy Secretary of State Hobart Pillsbury is a deputy sergeant-at-arms. Among other citizens of New Hampshire who are contemplating attending the big convention are: Mayor Harry W. Spaulding of Manchester, Councilor James Burns of Canaan, Col. John H. Bartlett of Portsmouth, Hon. A. S. Welcher of Exeter, Col. James O. Lyford of Concord.

The New Hampshire party will arrive in Chicago, Monday, June 5, at 2 p. m., which will give them all that day and the next to get comfortably located, so that they will be on hand for the opening of the convention on the 7th inst. Four years ago the seating of the delegates was so arranged that New Hampshire had a very desirable location well down in the front and very close to the stage on which the presiding officer holds forth. It was one of the best places in the convention and if the same seating arrangement is carried out the Granite state men will doubtless get the same location.

The Young Men's Age.

The present is considered, and justly so, the young men's age. Young men are at the front in business, in politics, in the professions. The strenuousness of the times calls for all the vigor, physical and mental, that pertains to young manhood and middle life. There are men in advanced years who still retain their footing in the activities of life, but they constitute a small part of the army that is doing the world's work. It is natural that this should be so, and it is true that the pace of life is now so rapid that men are considered old earlier than was the case a few generations ago.

Under these circumstances, it is pleasant occasionally to contemplate the careers of men who are ripe in years and who are still with us. Two men who were very conspicuous in their day have recently come into notice, one because of the occurrence of his birthday and the other because of serious illness. The first is Levi P. Morton of New York, long a prominent figure in American public life, having served as vice-president of the United States, governor of New York and United States minister to France. He honored all of these high positions and performed his duties as a high-minded citizen and a recognized statesman. Doubtless in the rush and hurly-burly of the present day there are many who thought he had long since passed over the border, until they were apprised by accounts of the celebration of his 92d birthday of the fact that he is still in the land of the living and in good health. He is very vigorous for a man of such great age and his mental faculties are perfectly retained.

Many were undoubtedly also surprised to learn that Col. John S. Mosby, the famous Confederate guerilla, is still living, but very little having been heard of him in recent years. He is a resident of Washington, D. C., and is 82 years old. He was brought into public notice a few days ago by reason of serious illness, and the mere mention of his name carries the thoughts swiftly back to the days when it struck terror to the regions in which he operated at the time of the Civil war. But the bitterness of the past is all gone and he is now a respected citizen of the capital of the nation that he and his section sought to destroy.

But these men, and others like them, conspicuous as were their careers, are now but memories. They live, but the affairs of the country are in other hands. This is the young men's age and the young men rise readily and rapidly to the positions of command in all departments of activity. Yet those who have borne an honorable part in the days that are gone must not be forgotten.

Evangelist Billy Sunday is soon to undergo an operation for an abdominal trouble that is said to have been troubling him seriously for some time. Surgical operations on men of his prominence are apt to come high, but he is in a position to meet the expense. It is said that his Baltimore campaign alone netted him more than $10,000. As a business evangelist Mr. Sunday leads the world.

Mrs. Waile of Grand Rapids, Mich., wife of the young New York dentist who is charged with the murder of her parents, is in New York to testify against him at the trial. She does not believe in capital punishment, save in exceptional cases, but considers this one of the exceptions. And a large part of the public will agree with her if the awful charge is proved.

The experience of the American troops in Mexico proves that the army mule still has his uses in spite of the development of the motor truck which is found so useful in the work of transportation. But the truck must have some sort of road to pass over, while the pack mule can do anything but climb a tree.

A handsome monument is to be erected in Southern Indiana over the grave of Sarah Lincoln Grigsby, who was a sister of Abraham Lincoln. There is no name in American history more revered than that of Lincoln. Even some candidates for the presidency are fond of ringing the changes on it.

If the state of Maine keeps shouting for water instead of beer she deserves to drown, according to the man who believes in license. This water wagon craze in Maine is not as popular since the flood.

Fifteen goats were driven through the streets of Manchester. Perhaps this is the number of "goats taken" from the Maine editors during the past year by Brother Condon of The Union.

Five Americans have just become naturalized as British subjects. No "hyphen" for them.

WILL PATROL THE BEACHES

Salvation Army Lassies Will Save Lives as Well as Souls.

New York, May 20.—The beaches will be patrolled this summer by Salvation Army lassies in bathing suits who will watch for opportunities for saving lives as well as souls. It is announced at the army headquarters. Commander Evangelina Booth dedicated the first contingent of the life saving guards at Carnegie hall this afternoon. The contingent consists of 100 young women all of whom are good swimmers. Miss Booth who is an expert swimmer herself, is president of the organization. It is planned to organize branches in every important city.

PEOPLE and THINGS

The women of Portsmouth can do their part towards making the new Army and Navy and Seamen's Aid Home a complete success. For particulars how they can assist, information may be obtained from Mrs. Harriet W. Potter, Islington street, or from any of the wives of the officers of the Association. Here is an opportunity to render excellent service with very little trouble.

The teams of the Sunset League are certainly going to produce the liveliest sport ever seen at the playgrounds. The battle between the K. of C. the Wilder and the C. C. Co. means all kinds of excitement. Every team thus far shown the quality of pennant winners. The Y. M. C. A. will certainly keep the older ones busy before they haul the pennant.

The day for the Coast Artillery Company's benefit and May ball is Monday night, and will practically be the dedication of the new armory, and the net receipts are for furnishings. The governor and his staff will be there and a right royal good time is provided for. It is up to Portsmouth to give this command proper support.

The plan of giving naval training to citizens on several of the battleship mounts that any one in Portsmouth under the age standard are eligible. This city certainly should be represented in this naval training scheme. It is also true that Portsmouth could have a ship stationed here of its own for just such purposes, if there was sufficient interest in the proposition. Here is a chance for somebody to show proper spirit.

By whose authority is the fountain just used for the display of unsightly advertising signs? The local public do not object to the placing of any announcements of city functions such as New Year celebrations, but it does $1.—Horace W. Killam, Hyde Park, strenuously object to the use of the city fountain for general advertising purposes. This newspaper is very anxious to aid in every way every public event, but it dislikes to see the continued disregard of the beauties of Portsmouth. Again, by whose authority is this public property used?

Portsmouth is to be well represented at the 13th biennial meeting of the National Federation of Women's Clubs at New York on Tuesday next. Among those who will attend from this city are Mrs. Mary L. Wool, Mrs. Fred S. Towle, Mrs. Harrison Parker, Miss Florence Marshall, Miss Frances Wiggin, and Mrs. J. C. Hanseom. Mrs. Wood left today and the others will go Sunday evening.

Someone in authority or supposed authority in the city government is granting permission to the placing of unsightly poles in the side-walks on Congress street. Every main business thoroughfare in Portsmouth should be rid of these poles. They will greatly mar the beauty of the lighting system at present being installed.

This city now has more restaurants and first class ones than any city of its size in New England. It can be said that it has more than can be properly supported and it is understood that we are to have another large restaurant opened by out of town parties. Every day sees more business houses in Portsmouth.

There are doings in police circles, and it is said that there are more appointments to follow. The prospects are that several new appointments will be made. Portsmouth needs a stronger police force, and the opinion of many leading taxpayers and citizens in general is that the present force as to numbers is not adequate. The local department should always be efficient in every way. In point of numbers and quality of members it is about the best any department in New England.

CURRENT OPINION

Preparedness a Cheap Form of National Insurance.

At the termination of this war it is a certainty that some power will possess a fleet which has gone successfully through the ordeal of battle, an army disciplined, hardened and enthused by victory. Great commanders will have been developed. That country will have enormous power and enormous debts. There is more gold in this country today than there ever was in one country.

Selfishness frequently dominates nations as it does individuals, and there is great danger that this country, standing supinely by and living in a fool's paradise, will be devastated by war and ransoms and penalties imposed so much greater than the cost of preparation and defense that there will be absolutely no comparison.

Preparedness is only a form of insurance, and the cost is much less than the cost of getting rid of an invading army would be that it is folly not to make the investment.—By John E. Harris, New York Banker.

SEEK OPEN DOOR MEASURE

Would Grant Autos Same Interstate Rights as Carriages.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, D. C., May 20.—With Federal good roads legislation disposed of, and the Senate and House measures in the hands of the conferees, the American Automobile Association will now devote itself in an effort to secure the passage of the Adamson bill before the conclusion of the present Congress.

Nearly three million users of automobiles have an interest in the Adamson open-door policy, which briefly gives the self-propelled vehicle the same interstate rights as are now possessed by horse-drawn wagons and carriages; in fact, it would make countrywide the present New York State reciprocity. New York offers to the motor-car owners of other states reciprocity; for whatever period that state will give to a New York State owner, which means one day, or the entire 365, which of the year.

Representative W. C. Adamson, who is the father of the open door measure, is the chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, and when he introduced his bill a year ago it was without consultation with any organization. The Georgia congressional simply put forward his idea as a commonsense solution of the diversified, and conflicting periods of reciprocity among the states. In addition to a belief that it was discrimination to forbid the self-propelled vehicle to exercise the same rights on the road possessed by muscle-drawn vehicles.

While it would appear a difficult matter to get such an important piece of legislation passed at the present time in a Congress which is crowded with the necessity of doing many things the A. A. A. has secured such a generous promise of support from so many National legislators that it is not improbable that there would be a minimum of discussion and a quick agreement that the automobile was now entitled to the freedom of the highways in interstate passenger and freight transportation.

CASE AGAIN

IN COURT

Seabrook Man Sues Another for False Imprisonment in Town Lockup.

William N. Davis vs Arthur W. Evans, two Seabrook citizens, who figured in the Rockingham county superior court at the January term, in a case regarding the pulling down of fence posts, in which the jury reported a disagreement, are at variance again.

Their case went on trial Friday at Exeter, the action being an alleged false imprisonment. Davis alleges that he was put in the Seabrook lock up for refusing to give up Evans' cattle which he had been keeping in his barn, till the expense of keeping was paid.

Evans, his body, with a part of the undevotioning on, was lying in bed, while Hurd was in a chair near, the upper part of the body hanging over the arm of the chair. Hurd, too, wore only underclothing, and as he had evidently been in bed, it is thought that he was overcome by the gas when he got up and could get no further than the chair.

Dr. Edwin R. Jaques of South Berwick, one of the medical examiners of York county who was called in the case, made a formal finding that the two men came to their death by gas poisoning, but as yet he has found nothing to indicate that they had entered into a suicide agreement.

Hurd had for some time made his home with Lord, the two aged men occupying the same bed. When Miles the milkman called there Friday forenoon he was surprised to find nobody was about the place as Lord usually appeared when he paid a visit. Becoming suspicious, he called the undertaker and the constable. The men found a window that was unfastened. Scarcely had they thrust their heads inside when they found that the place was filled with gas, and so overpowering were the fumes that they dared not venture further until the house had been aired.

When they were able to go in they hurried to the room occupied by the men and there they discovered the two bodies. They found that a cork on a gas stove used for cooking purposes had been left wide open, but whether it was purposely opened or not will perhaps never be known.

Both men were unmarried. Hurd leaves a sister, Mrs. Georgia Galbraith of Dover and Lord is survived by some nephews and nieces.

Lord was at one time a spiritualist. It is said, but of late years had posed as a clairvoyant, though as far as known, his services in that capacity had never been in great demand. Hurd was proprietor of what was once known as the George Moore drug store in Somersworth.

MRS. CARPENTER SHOWS "GREY HAIRS AND WORRY"

Defendant in Divorce Suit Breaks Down and Gives Way to Tears While Telling of Family Bickering

Concord, N. H., May 19.—With tears of testimony by saying she had been streaming down her cheeks and her voice shaking, Mrs. Ralph G. Carpenter of Boston, who is being sued by her husband for divorce on grounds of unfaithfulness, told today of her love for their little son Ralph. She was unable to go on with her testimony for some minutes, the thought of this boy—the storm centre in years of marital jealousies and bickerings—having completely unnerved her.

The defence scored another dramatic point when she undid her hair to show the strands of gray that had come since unhappiness entered into her married life. There were not a few smiles in the courtroom as she confessed she cut off the gray hairs as fast as they appeared. However, there were enough gray ones to show Judge Kyel when he stepped over to inspect the ravages of worry in Mrs. Carpenter's tresses.

Mrs. Carpenter pictured George A. Carpenter, her husband's father, alternately as a household tyrant, who insisted on dictating how little Ralph should be brought up, and again, as a severe critic of his son, whom he once termed, she said, a "damned fool."

She continued her descriptions of her husband's alleged jealousy and of how he had wept in contrition after wildly accusing her of flirting.

Mrs. Carpenter began another day of testimony by saying she had been injured in 1907 in a railroad wreck in the Somerville yards, and had settled with the railroad for $1500. This was the only time she had a physician since her school days. Up to 1911 she had been in good health, but in that year, when her differences began with her husband, she became a nervous wreck and gray hairs began to come.

Walter L. Badger, of her counsel, asked if she would remove her hair.

Mrs. Carpenter described visits to Narragansett Pier, Mt. Kisco and Harwich. She said when Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter were not along things went pleasantly. When all four were together, the elder Carpenter insisted on outlining the future bringing up of the child which had the effect of making her and her husband irritable.

In their apartment in Boston, Carpenter senior took upon himself to direct what the baby should have to eat and once made the child ill, she testified, by giving him spinach. She said the father told her "Ralph hadn't married her he would have been graduated from college;" that he should not have married her, as it spelled all the elder Carpenter's plans.

"Ralph couldn't earn a dollar and if it was not for me you would be grubbing in the dirt with the chickens."

Mrs. Carpenter testified George Carpenter said to her:

She described a trip in November, 1908, to San Francisco to visit her sister. This was made with her husband. It was soon after the earthquake, and George Carpenter advised his son to look out for some corner lots for investment purposes. One day Ralph Carpenter returned and Mrs. Carpenter swore he remarked: "I suppose you and your sister have been raising—while I have been out." Mr. Badger asked the witness if she and her sister had done anything unladylike and Mrs. Carpenter entered a vigorous "no."

On that trip Mrs. Carpenter said she and her sister had been invited to tea in the hotel. "My husband," the witness continued, "said all we wanted was to be booked in and to show one shapes. My brother-in-law objected to such talk and said, 'I can't help what you sayta Quita,' but never speak again like that to my wife—and Ralph didn't."

When they returned from San Francisco, Mrs. Carpenter said her father-in-law assumed charge of the boy and her orders to the nurse were ignored.

She went into what happened that summer. In the fall she said her father-in-law began to make significant remarks such as "You found that all I'm good for is to give you money," and "A little think like your family doesn't count." Both the junior and senior Carpenters were then staying at the Belvoir, at 636 Beacon street, Boston.

One day, Mrs. Carpenter testified, her husband remarked to her, "I guess I have been a fool over you and neglecting my family. From now on I am going to show people that I wear the pants."

The witness told of a trip to New York in April, 1910, to visit a sister. Little Ralph was with her. She had been there but a short time when her husband appeared. He seemed nervous and excited and did not kiss her. Ralph Carpenter said his father had advised him to go to New York to find out what was going on. He found some memoranda of telephone calls, Mrs. Carpenter said. These were ends, she explained, that had been made by her sister and aunt, one for a Mr. Goldsmith and the other for a Mr. O'Donnell, in both instances to get addresses of friends.

The next day they were to dine with her sister. Mrs. Carpenter said she arrived late and her husband took her by the neck and banged her head against the wall a few times and shouted, "She has been late because she had been telephoning to men."

Mrs. Carpenter added she had not been telephoning and that her sister, warned Ralph never again to lay hands on his wife. Ralph then called up his father by telephone in Boston and told him he was in the room with his wife and sister and that the family were abusing him. The elder Carpenter, according to the witness, ordered Ralph and his wife to return to Boston on the next train. On the train, Mrs. Carpenter said, her husband cried "very hard" and begged forgiveness.

The elder Carpenter was waiting at the Bush Bay station and when the family arrived he grabbed little Ralph and put him in the Carpenter automobile. Mrs. Carpenter testified Ralph Carpenter tried to stop the old man but failed to do so. "George Carpenter never ceased to interfere," commented Mrs. Carpenter.

Mrs. Carpenter told of a visit to Virginia Hot Springs, where George Carpenter asked if she had ever struck little Ralph. "If you ever strike him I will have you arrested," the elder Carpenter is alleged to have said.

RAILROADS FIND "SAFETY FIRST" IS PAYING PROPOSITION

APPLICATION OF THESE PRINCIPLES HAVE SAVED THE ROADS $7,000,000 IN HANDLING FREIGHT.

By the application of "safety first" principles to the handling of freight 112 of the principal railroads in the United States last year reduced their payments for claims for loss and damage to freight by over $7,000,000 as compared with 1914, says the Railway Age Gazette. This large saving in claim payments is shown in a report of the Committee on Packing, Marking and Handling of Freight presented at the meeting of the American Railway Association this week.

The decrease for the year was nearly 21 per cent, while the volume of business handled by the railroads during the year showed a slight increase.

The Railway Age Gazette says:

"The total payments for loss and damage for the 112 roads amounted to $31,916,513 in 1914 and only $24,290,024 in 1915, and as the number of roads as used by the committee refers to systems rather than to individual companies, these figures represent nearly all the railroads of the United States. Twenty-six large roads submitted reports showing their payments for loss and damage classified as to commodities, indicating an improvement as to practically all commodities except eggs, grain and perishable freight."

"The committee's report shows that strenuous efforts are being put forth by the carriers to reduce loss and damage to a minimum. The question of loss and damage to perishable freight is being actively investigated by two committees, one representing the Eastern roads and the other the Western roads, acting in cooperation with the American Railway Perishable Freight Association and with the Committee on Packing, Marking and Handling of Freight, and not only all departments of the railroads but all the various associations have been requested to cooperate in the formulation, improvement and enforcement of rules to prevent loss and damage. Such an encouraging report should be a source of gratification not only to the railroads, but also to the shippers, as it shows they are getting better service."

Two hundred and fifty students of the University of Pennsylvania have volunteered for naval training and will leave on the battleship Alabama from the Philadelphia navy yard for a summer cruise.

MOTHER FINDS RUNAWAY DAUGHTER; ONE OF THE GROOMS ARRESTED.

One of the grooms, Stanley Lazarus of New York who figured in a double elopement and a double wedding which took place in this city on Sunday last, added another chapter to the sensational event on Friday when he appeared in police court to answer to a charge of carrying concealed weapons. The arrest of Lazarus was made on a complaint made by his chum, William Widner, a side partner and the other groom in the runaway matrimonial affair.

When Mrs. Gustave Yorkland appeared at a local lodging house on Friday, and found her daughter Dorothy had been wed, she finally prevailed on the daughter and her husband to return to the family home in Bayonne.

It appears that Lazarus who had been associated with Widner in the work of soliciting orders, did not like the idea of Widner leaving him and he claimed that he owed him considerable money. To quit him now would put him in a hole financially.

A war of words took place between them and Widner, knowing that Lazarus had a revolver became frightened and reported him to the police. The officers brought him to the station and later put him before the court on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was fined $20 and costs of $6.00 which he paid.

The other couple then left for New Jersey accompanied by the bride's mother after the court hearing.
